FOREWORD

The Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSME) sector has been recognized as an engine of growth all over the world. The major advantage of this sector in India is its employment potential at low capital cost. The labour employment in MSME sector is much higher than that of the large enterprises. The MSMEs constitute over 90% of total enterprises in most of the countries with the highest rate of employment growth and a major share of industrial production and exports. In India, MSMEs play a pivotal role in the overall growth of economy. With its agility and dynamism, the sector has shown admirable innovativeness and adaptability to survive in the recent economic recession.

Haryana has taken lead in terms of planned industrial and urban growth compared to neighbouring States, which has resulted in development of new industrial estates including product specific clusters close to the National Capital. The New Industrial Policy launched in August, 2015 of Haryana will boost the growth of MSMEs in the State and open new avenues for cluster development as well. It is hoped that the entrepreneurs will find this document useful for taking investment decisions, besides proving immensely helpful information to various agencies engaged in the promotion and development of MSMEs in the state.

I appreciate the efforts put in by Shri M K Verma, Assistant Director (MIT) in preparation of this document. I am also thankful to various government departments, industrial associations and other agencies for giving information and data for compiling this document. Some data has also been obtained from the websites of concerned departments.

1. General Characteristics of the District :

Sonepat also spelled as Sonapat, is an ancient town and a municipal council in Sonipat District in the state of Haryana, India. It is believed that it was founded as Suvarnaprastha by the five Pandava brothers during the times of Mahabharata. Another legend ascribed it to Raja Soni, the thirteenth descendent of Arjuna, one of the Pandava brothers. Sonipat district is a part of the Eastern Haryana Plain. The name of the district is derived after its headquarters town, Sonipat. It is often believed that Sonepat (now spelt as Sonipat) was one of the five Preasthas or towns demanded by Yudhisthira from Duryodhana as the price of peace. Another tradition ascribes its foundation to Raja Soni, thirteenth in descent from Arjuna, a brother of Yudhishtira. Both the traditions are without substance. There is no mention of Sonipat in the Mahabharata, although it has been noted much earlier by the great grammarian Panini in his celebrated Ashtadhyayi. The town was therefore already in existence around 600 B.C.

Sonipat district came into existence on December 22, 1972. It was carved out of Rohtak district to which Sonepat tahsil was attached since 1912. By taking 69 villages from Sonipat tahsil, Ganaur as a sub-tahsil was created in February, 1980. Kharkhauda with 38 villages was created as a sub-tahsil on March 30, 1982. The sub-tahsil of Ganaur was upgraded to the level of tahsil on April 19, 1982. Gohana sub-division of Sonipat district was included in Rohtak district. The position as on December 31, 1990 is as under: 2 sub-divisions (Sonipat and Ganaur); 2 tahsils (Sonipat and Ganaur) and Kharkhauda as a sub-tehsil.

The district headquarter is situated in Sonipat. Other smaller towns are Gohana, Ganaur, Mundlana, Kharkhoda and Rai. The total area of Sonipat district is 2,260 sq km and its population is 10,64,000. Sonipat is bordered by the states of Delhi and Uttar Pradesh as well as the districts of Rohtak, Jind and Panipat. The River Yamuna runs along the eastern boundary of the district. District Sonipat comprises of 3 sub-divisions namely Ganaur, Sonipat and Gohana and seven blocks (Ganaur, Sonipat, Rai, Kharkhoda, Gohana, Kathura and Mundlana) has been carved out of Rohtak and made a full fledged district on 22 December 1972. Sonepat is the largest tehsil followed by Gohana.

1.1 Location & Geographical Area.

Sonepat is a town and a municipal council in the Sonipat district in the state of Haryana, (India). It comes under the National Capital Region and is also known as a education city in the India. It is 20 kms north from Delhi. And a municipal council in the Sonipat district in the state of Haryana, India. It comes under the National Capital Region. The Yamuna River runs along the eastern boundary of the district. Sonipat comprises 3 sub-divisions namely Sonipat, Ganaur and Gohana and seven blocks (Sonipat, Ganaur, Rai, Kharkhoda, Gohana, Kathura and Mundlana). It has been carved out of Rohtak and made a full fledged district on 22 December 1972.

Its believed that Sonipat was founded as Swarnaprastha by the five Pandava brothers during the times of Mahabharata. Its one of the five Preasthas or towns demanded by Yudhisthira from Duryodhana as the price of peace. Another legend ascribed it to Raja Soni, the thirteenth descendent of Arjuna, one of the Pandava brothers. Both the traditions are without substance.

There is no mention of Sonipat in the Mahabharata, although it has been noted much earlier by the great grammarian Panini in his celebrated Ashtadhyayi. The town was therefore already in existence around 600 B.C.

Sonipat is located at 28.98°N 77.02°E.^[1] It has an average elevation of 224.15 meter above the sea level (735.4 feet).

Map of Sonipat district, Haryana. A Main water system in the district comprises of River Yamuna and the irrigation canals flowing out of it. There is no perennial river in the district. The underground water resources differ from area to area. The depth of the water table is the lowest in the Khadar area along the Yamuna, where it is below 10 ft. It increases to 30 to 40 ft. in some of the western and south eastern part of the district. The ground water in some areas is saline and brackish. The ground water conditions indicate that the district faces the problem of occurrence of brackish water and water logging in eastern parts of the district.

Broadly speaking, the district is a continuous part of the Haryana-Punjab plain, but the area is not leveled in some parts. Over most of the district, the soil is fine loam of rich color. However, some areas have sandy soil and others are comprised of Kallar. The plain has a gradual slope to the south and east. The district may be roughly divided into three regions:

1.2 Topography:

Topographically Sonipat district is divided into three regions - Khadar, Upland Plain and Sandy Region. Sonipat city is lying on upland plains, which is covered with old alluvium, which if properly irrigated, is highly productive. Extensive farming of crops, oilseeds, horticultural plants, vegetables and flowers, is undertaken in this region. Broadly speaking, the district is a continuous part of the Haryana-Punjab plain but the area is not levelled in some parts. Sonipat District has fine loamy soil with rich color. However, some areas have sandy soil.

Sonipat borders Delhi (National Capital) in south, Panipat district in the north, Uttar Pradesh state in the east and Rohtak district in the west. The total area of Sonipat district is 2,260 km².

1.4 FOREST:

Haryana is primarily an agriculture state with almost 80% of its land under cultivation. The geographical area of the state is 44212 sq. km which is 1.3% of India's geographical area. It is not bestowed with bounty of natural forests and only 3.52% of its geographical area is under notified forests. The rest extends as tree cover in village common lands, community lands, institutional lands and agricultural farms, making the area under forest and tree cover to 6.80 percent. (India State of Forest Report, FSI, 2009) Forestry activities in the state are dispersed over rugged Shivalik Hills in north, Aravalli hills in south, sand dunes in west and wastelands, saline-alkaline lands and waterlogged sites in the central part of the state.

To promote sustainable development of forest resources in the state, Haryana government has framed its own forest policy in 2006. The policy has fixed the goal of achieving 10% forest and tree cover by 2010 and eventually 20% in the state. This goal can be achieved by agro forestry practices. We are using genetically superior seedlings under agro-forestry on farm lands to increase productivity. In fact agro forestry should become a national mandate and a people's movement, as it is most economical, sustainable and stable alternative for ensuring ecological security of the country. Annually the forest department is distributing about 25 million seedlings to the farmers free of cost. Agro forestry plantations raised by the Forest Department are rated as one of the best in the country. It has been adopted by farmers as an income generation practice and used as a model of rural development, worthy of emulation in rest of the country. This practice can meet the goal of achieving one third of the geographical area of country under tree cover as envisaged in the national forest policy. The success of agro-forestry in Haryana enabled a forest deficit state to become the most productive state in terms of plywood and veneer. Annually 2.5 million cubic meters of wood that is mostly farm-grown, is converted into plywood and other form of composite wood within the State of Haryana. Today Yamuna Nagar has become the national centre of plywood and veneer industry. The policy of not putting unnecessary restrictions on felling of trees from private land and their subsequent transit has enabled an environment which has led a large number of farmers to grow trees. The endeavor has been to enable an environment that agro-forestry and wood-based industries flourish and grow simultaneously.
