Brief Industrial Profile of GOPALGANJ District

1. General Characteristics of the District

An ancient state of "Mallyas" known for their bravery and love for civil liberty serves as the frontier of Gopalganj. In Pre- historic time, Gopalganj was part of Nepal, up to the bank of the Saryu river which bounds Siwan district on South of it. Siwan means the boundary - the Southern boundary of Nepal Kingdom(earlier) . Gopalganj, which till 1875 was only a tiny hamlet, was made a subdivision of the old Saran district in the same year.

The history of Gopalganj is a part of the history of old Saran District. The composite Saran district lies on one of the main lines of the Aryan advance.

According to a tradition preserved in Vedic literature, the Videhas marched eastwards from the Saraswati until they reached the banks of the Gandak and were informed by Agni, the God of fire, that their home lay to the east of its broad stream. In obedience to his directions, the Videhas crossed the river and founded a powerful kingdom on its eastern bank ; but it seems likely that some of them settled in Saran, which lay on the line of march, while the majority of them crossed the Gandak.

Gopalganj is a town, municipality and headquarters of Gopalganj district in the Indian state of Bihar. It was carved out of old Saran district (consisting of Chhapra, Siwan and Gopalganj) on October 2, 1973.

Gopalganj is one of the administrative districts in the Indian state of Bihar and the district is a part of Saran Division

It is one of the largest sugarcane producers in India. It also produces the best tobaccos in the country

It is the birthplace of the famous politician and former Chief Minister of Bihar/ Railway Minister of India Laloo Prasad Yadav, best known for his unique accent and cunningness. Its the birthplace of Abdul Ghafoor, the only Muslim chief minister of Bihar till date. It is also the birthplace of one of the first lady governor of India (Ram Dulari Sinha) and the only illiterate Chief Minister of Bihar, Rabri Devi. The district has provided the state with 3 chief ministers. Gopalganj is also famous for producing large number of IAS and IPS officers.

1.1 Location & Geographical Area.

Geographical Location of Gopalganj district lies between $26^{\circ} 12$ to $26^{\circ} 39$ North latitudes $83^{\circ} 54$ to $84^{\circ} 55$ East longitudes. The district occupies an area of 2033 km² and is ----

1.2 Topography

Gopalganj has a varied climate. It is exceptionally hot and dry during summer with temperature reaching as high as 45 degrees Celsius. Gopalganj receives about 500 mm rainfall during monsoons, which is followed by pleasant temperature in winter. District receives an average rainfall of about 290 mm and the temperature varies from 10 to 45 degree Celsius. Total physical area can roughly be put in two categories i.e. Normal Area and Lowly Area (flood affected area). Parts of the six blocks like Gopalganj, Kuchaykot, Manjha, Sidhwalia, Barauli and Baikunthpur are flood affected areas. These areas remain under water in the rainy season. But so far as cultivation and agriculture is concern these areas are called the stock of food grains. Rest of the parts is normal area with full greenery and cultivable land.

1.5 Administrative set up.

In the case of administration, the whole district has been divided into 2 sub-divisions HATHWA & GOPALGANJ, each sub-division consisting of 7 blocks.

District Collector being the top level of this hierarchy, sub-divisional magistrates (SDM), Tehsildars becomes the head of the sub-division and tehsil respectively. For block level administration, Block Development Officer (B.D.O) acts as the coordinator of the functions of the respective block.

To implement this administrative setup Police department assist the local administration through various police stations spread all over the district.
