Brief Industrial Profile of Gurgaon District

1. General Characteristics of the District:

Gurgaon district is situated in NCR of Delhi, the capital of India. It is just 10 kms away from Indira Gandhi International Airport, Delhi. The district derived its name from the name of Guru Dronacharya; the village was given as gurudakshina to him by his students; the Pandavas and hence it came to be known as Guru-gram, which in course of time got distorted to Gurgaon. Thus the district has been existence since the times of Mahabharata. The district is surrounded by Delhi & Rajasthan.

It is said that Yudhishtar, the eldest brother among the Pandavas, gave this village to his guru, Dronacharya, whose tank still exists on the west side of the Railway Road. Actual village "GURGAON" is about 1.5 km. away from Gurgaon town, where the temple of SHEETLA MATA, attracts devotees in large numbers on every Monday and Tuesday.

During Akbar's reign, the district fell within the subas of Delhi and Agra, and comprised, wholly or partly, the sikars of Delhi, Rewari, Suhar Pahari and Tijara. With the decay of the Mughal Empire, it remained in a disturbed state as a consequence of fighting between the neighboring chiefs till 1803 AD when most of it came under the British rule through the Treaty of Surji Arjungaon with Sindhia. The town was first occupied by the cavalry unit posted to watch the army of Begum Samru of Sirdhana, whose principal cantonment was in the village Jharsa, 1.5 km. to the south-east of the town.

The civil offices were removed from Bharawas (tehsil Rewari) in 1821 AD, when the British frontier advanced through the acquisition of the Ajmer territory.

The district was divided into parganas by Britishers, various parganas were given to petty chiefs and granted as jagirs in lieu of military services rendered by them. These jagirs were gradually resumed and came under the direct management of the British; the last of the important changes took place in 1836 AD. Thereafter, the district remained unchanged until the 1857 uprising. In 1858 AD it was transferred from the North Western Provinces to Punjab. In 1861, the district was rearranged into five tehsils Gurgaon, F.P.Jhirka, Nuh, Palwal & Rewari.

In the composition of the District since the beginning of the 20th century various changes have occurred.

1.1 Location & Geographical Area:

The present Gurgaon district comprising nine blocks Tauru, Nuh, Pataudi, Nagina, Punhana, F.P.Jhirka, Sohna, Gurgaon & Farrukhnagar was created on 15 August, 1979. It is the southern-most district of Haryana. The district lies between 27 degree 39' and 28 degree 32' 25" latitude, and 76 degree 39' 30" and 77 degree 20' 45" longitude. On its north, it is bounded by the district of Rohtak and the Union Territory of Delhi. Faridabad district lies to its east. On its south, the distt. shares boundaries with the states of Uttar Pradesh and Rajasthan. To its west lies the district of Rewari and the State of Rajasthan.

Gurgaon town is about 32 km away from New Delhi, the National Capital of India.

National Parks located in Gurgaon District

Sultanpur National Park, located at about 50 Km from Delhi and 15 Km from Gurgaon on Gurgaon Farukhnagar road is a bird paradise particularly in the winter months both or local as well as migratory aves. Its sanctuary potential was first recognized by the world famous ornithologist, Mr. Peter Jackson, Keeping in view its importance and potential, the area covering 359 acres was declared a Bird Sanctuary in 1971 and was upgraded to the status of National Park in 1991 by Haryana Government. The Education & Interpretation Centre has over 70 attractive colour photographs and transparencies' of different species of birds. The photographs are accompanied with informative write-ups about birds which are of interest to bird lovers. The Department has also established a Centre in the memory of Dr. Salim Ali, the internationally acclaimed ornithologist of India which contains his bust, photographs, write-ups and certain of his personal effects. The National Park has an area of 359 acres, out of which about 180 acres is poundage area and the rest provides habitat for terrestrial birds. Heronries look very beautiful with diverse groups of birds. Of the recorded 250 bird species, 150 are residents or local migratory, while others come from faraway northern regions like Siberia, Europe and Afghanistan. The common resident species are Little Egret, Painted Stork, White ibis, little brown dove, Indian crested lark, Myna, Red vented bulbul, Magpie robin, Weaver bird etc. Every year about 90 species of migratory birds arrive here in search of feeding grounds and to pass winter. In winter, the sanctuary provides a picturesque panorama of migratory birds such as Rosy pelican, spotted sand piper, starling, Blue throat etc. In summer, 11 species of birds such as Koel and Cuckoos can be recognized by their melodious songs. For comfortable stay of visitors at park, tourism Development Corporation has established a tourist complex with salubrious climes. Bird watching is facilitated by four watch towers at vantage locations and a nature trail. For study/ identification of birds, a museum containing photographs and a library equipped with sufficient good books on birds and wildlife are available. Binoculars are provided to interested visitors.
